

THREE MONTHS' MONEY FAMINE BROKEN; $150,000 FOR ARMY

"It certainly looks like a big night tonight, a big night tonight."

For every prognostication there should be a sound basis of sound reasoning and in the above instance the sequence of cause and probable effect is unbroken.

For about $150,000 of Uncle Sam's money has been turned loose within the last four days. And it's divided up among about 4,000 soldiers who haven't seen the color of a real dollar for three months.

"Every soldier in the department has been paid for June and July within the last few days," said Captain Cooke, army paymaster, this morning. "There will be another payday all around in about two weeks, when the men will get their money for August, but for the present everyone has enough to last. The officers will get their cheques Monday. Ordinarily they would have received them the last day of the month, but my office has been somewhat rushed with the men's pay, and as they had been so long without coin they were given the preference."

As a matter of fact, the army paymaster here has come very near to making a record in the payment of troops. The cable announcing the passage of the army appropriation bill, and the deficiency bill that supplied funds for the June pay, arrived on the 26th. Tuesday, the 27th, Captain Cooke went out to Schofield Barracks and paid off the First and Second Infantry. Wednesday his office force worked on the high speed all day, and Thursday another trip was made to Lihue, the Fifth Cavalry and First Field Artillery getting their dues. Each of these payments aggregated almost $50,000. Friday Fort Rucker, Fort De Russy and Fort Shafter were paid off.

And now, with muster over with, and two holidays ahead of them, it's probable that the boys in khaki will make merry, and have a little of the fun that has been denied them for three long months.

BONUS FOR CHILDREN

or effect in accomplishing the same result.

"This system will not only keep the laboring families from leaving these islands, but it will have other beneficial effects, viz.: (1) It will take families from the city onto the plantation. (2) It will induce a larger percentage of the children to remain field laborers after reaching working age, since the younger children and parents will remain dependent upon the monthly bonus for some years after the oldest child is able to work.

"If in addition to this the Territorial schools could be induced to teach agriculture and field work, I believe that it might be possible to evolve in time a sufficient staff of resident plantation laborers, guaranteeing at the same time the ultimate Americanization of this Territory as no 'liberal land laws' or 'small farming' movement could do."

MOTHER OF W. M. LANGTON MEETS SISTER AFTER SIXTY-FOUR YEARS

Aunt of Local Editor Is Widow of Major Gen. Moore, Lincoln's Secretary

WASHINGTON, August 30. — After a separation of sixty-four years, Mrs. William G. Moore of Washington, and Mrs. Libby Langton of San Francisco and Honolulu, sisters, are today rejoicing over their reunion here. Four generations of the Moore family were present. Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Langton were participants in a double wedding in this city in 1863 and parted almost immediately afterwards.

The foregoing is a wireless dispatch in the morning paper. Mrs. Langton mentioned therein is the mother of W. M. Langton, editor and proprietor of the Paradise of the Pacific, Honolulu's long established monthly promotion magazine. Mrs. Langton's full name is Rebecca Elizabeth Langton, and the year of the double wedding was 1863 and not 1868.

Mr. Langton this morning showed a Star-Bulletin reporter his father's scrapbook, age-stained but with well-preserved contents, which contains the following marriage notice, with the date "1862" clearly penciled over it:

WORKING HARD TO GET REVENUE CUTTER FOR HAWAIIAN WATERS

"We are doing all we possibly can to secure a revenue cutter to be permanently stationed here," said Elmer E. Paxton, chairman of the shippers, wharves and transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, when his attention was called today to the dispatch stating that four new revenue cutters were to be constructed forthwith.

"At the annual meeting of the chamber on the 21st, a resolution was adopted on the subject, with instructions to the president of the chamber to forward it to the Secretary of the Treasury."

"It is hard to make the officials at Washington understand the great maritime importance of Hawaii. There seems to be an impression that the Territory is one island, or that you can almost step from one island of the group to another. It is not realized that the islands are separated by miles of ocean and have peculiarly dangerous coast lines, calling for lighthouse and facilities for the relief of vessels in distress and sometimes shipwrecked people. A large number of wrecks have occurred along the island coasts in twenty-five years, and the narrow escape of the steamship Manchuria when stranded at Waimanalo is still fresh in remembrance.

"Married.—In Washington, D. C., on Monday, Oct. 17th, Mr. Alexander T. Langton, of Langton & Bros. Express, California, to Miss Rebecca Elizabeth Rose, grand-daughter of Jacob Gideon, Esq.

"We wish the happy couple all the enjoyments of a long life, together with that health, peace and competence which add so much to the pleasures of existence. Bro. Langton is an honest and true Mason, and deserves a good wife, and we have not the slightest doubt in the world but that he has picked a lovely 'Rose' from a good stock."

Mr. Langton, speaking of the wireless item, said:

"Mrs. Moore is the widow of Major General Moore, who was secretary for Abraham Lincoln and for President Johnson after the martyred emancipator's death. He organized the Washington Post guards and was captain of them until his death. At the time of his death he was chief of the metropolitan police, and his funeral was the largest ever held in Washington."

"I was named after General Moore. My mother's grandfather was the first printer in Washington, D. C., so that my pedigree as a printer goes back for three generations."

Mrs. Langton lately paid an extended visit to her son in Honolulu.

for the purpose of carrying mails between the islands, in case of accidents or strikes in the local inter-island service, and of rendering assistance to vessels in case of wreck or disaster; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the president of this chamber be and he is hereby instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to the Honorable Franklin MacVeagh, Secretary of the Treasury, Washington, D. C., respectfully requesting that, if possible, a suitable vessel for the revenue service be permanently stationed at the port of Honolulu."

MAUI RAISES BIG SUM FOR FUND FOR DUKE

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
WAILUKU, Aug. 30.—The Duke Kahanamoku fund has received so far $204.50 from the efforts of Maui people. The concert at the Wailuku Orpheum and the dance given at the Alexander House gymnasium afterwards were both well attended. The receipts from the two benefits have made a handsome sum towards the amount that Maui hopes to turn in. The Orpheum was crowded with people who were most enthusiastic in all their applause. Kaia's band played the opening piece. This was followed by an ukulele solo by A. A. Santos. Miss Hurst accompanied Mr. Santos. The duet by George Kaia, on the mandolin, and Joe Philip, on the guitar, was next, and the Robinson comedians followed. The talent was local and was much appreciated. It was somewhat of a surprise to some Mauiites that the local musicians could turn out such high-grade work, for many of these artists had not been heard on Maui for some time. The Robinson boys of Paia were certainly good, and people hope that they will appear frequently. Moving pictures were shown during the evening.

After the concert and pictures a large number went directly from the Orpheum to the gymnasium, where the benefit dance was given. This affair was also well attended, and people greatly enjoyed themselves.

TODAY'S DIVIDENDS TOTAL NEARLY $200,000

A fairly good day's record, with Oahu and Pineapple almost exclusively handled on the board, concludes the week. For the week ended at noon today the total transactions of the Stock and Bond Exchange were $128,169.75, against $215,848.12 the previous week, or a decrease of $87,678.37.

A GREAT CLEARANCE SALE OF

$25,000 WORTH OF DRESS GOODS

Including Silk, Wool Goods, and Wash Goods

WE HAVE DECIDED TO QUIT CARRYING DRESS GOODS IN THE PIECE

A crowded store and want of room generally has compelled us to take this action. Our business has grown so rapidly that we cannot properly display the merchandise in all departments that we carry.

We are determined that in whatever lines we show the stock must be complete, and this requires space for display. Our Lace Department, our Glove Department, our Fancy Goods and Notion Departments have all outgrown their present space. To effectively further build up these branches we will dispense with Dress Goods in the piece.

The stock is all brand new and recently to hand, as we had no idea of closing out this department until a few days ago.

A Great Price-Cutting Sale Will Begin on Wednesday, Sept. 4th and as soon as the whole stock has been gone over and re-marked the entire details will be advertised.

As we want quick results to enable us to make the changes in time to take care of our holiday lines, we can promise such marvelous bargains in high grade dress goods materials that should result in the biggest sale ever known in the city of Honolulu.
